THE NORWAY ADVERTISER

(OXFORD COUNTY, ME.)
NUMBER 29. JULY 19, 1907, NORWAY, MAINE. VOLUME XXXVIII

In Camp and on Battlefield.
Every Day Life of a Soldier as Seen and Told by Henry M. Maxim of South Paris Co. G, 12th Maine Regiment, Who enlisted from Buckfield, Oct. 10, 1861. Capt.
M. M. Robinson, Waterford, and Served 3-1-2 Years.

This story by a man living in Oxford county will be told in the ADVERTISER on the battlefield, in the hospital, on the march, in the trenches, in the plain you will almost think you were there. It is written by one who has seen what he writes and it is true. He sketches in all the little incidents along the way. He has seen the hardships and the little pleasant things of war and knows whereof he writes.

He tells funny stories of the dainties and the southern people. As a young soldier he tells how the girls visited camp even in the enemy's country and liked the Yankees.

He tells of many a jolly lark when they supplied themselves with eatables and drinkables not supplied by Uncle Sam. He tells of blood and gore, of a runaway nigger, and describes one's sensations in a battle, the southern snares and a war-time newspaper.

This story of the war will run through several ADVERTISERS in a serial form.
It will be interesting to everyone for it paints a life-like picture of war in true color tones. It will be doubly interesting to the soldier for in reading it he will live over his own war days and enjoy the way Mr. Maxim tells it.

Subscribe for the ADVERTISER for the next few months that you may be sure to get the whole of the story.

Not Having Seen He Cannot Believe.
Two men cannot make an "ideal home," de facto.

It takes a woman to make a home, and "that is home without a mother." That means children in the home.

The ADVERTISER article is away out of plumb. Your two friends have succeeded in producing an ideal place for a home, no doubt, but two old bachelors can go farther in home making until they "jointly or severally," and under our laws and customs it must be severally, induce some good woman to take charge of that fine house.

Given that beautiful house plus a good wife and loving mother, a group of happy, healthy children, a kind, considerate, thoughtful, industrious husband, and you will have the ideal New England home. Anything else is a sham, a fraud, a delusion, a mockery, but not an "ideal home." Dick.

The foremen of the shoe factory and a team from the stock room played ball at the foot of the hill in the afternoon, the stock room men winning by a score of 7 to 1.

False Economy.

Through the columns of your admir- able paper, I wish to give the farmers' wives a few hints in regard to their mis- taken ideas of economy. On every side there is such a wilful waste of time, health, strength and energy combined that it is no wonder the finality is a worn out, fretful, nervous wreck, or worse, still, an inmate of an insane asylum or the cemetery. It is a mistaken idea of saving to cut thousands of yards of carpet rags. What have you saved? A lot of old rags, the best portions of which could have been run upon the machine for carpet covers, the others being either sold or burned.

Again, you go with shoes that leak or are well-nigh off your feet, too saving to buy another pair. You begin to cough. It will get better, you say, I will not go to a doctor or procure some tried reme- dy; it costs so much. You drag around a few months and then grow frightened. The white plague has you, and ten chances to one his grip is too strong to break. The race is run. What goal is won?

Or, you may map out a big summer's work. You go over in your mind a thousand times what you will do, what you will accomplish. Never once taking into consideration that your strength is not great enough. You set out deter- mined to win. Every day finds you going on borrowed energy, until at last your outraged nerves collapse, and you are carried senseless to your room, per- haps to recover and perhaps to die. After many months of weary suffering. Again the question, What have you gained? Nothing. Instead you have lost all that makes life worth the living.

And there is fancy work. I wonder really how many victims the innocent looking gawgaws, that adorn almost every home have to answer for, and after all what is it worth? Weak eyes, an aching back and impatient temper. A bit of fancy work is all right to be caught up in an idle hour or when a caller comes, but pray let it be some- thing simple that will not call for your concentration of mind to accomplish.

Just because Mrs. So-and-so has made one of the same kind is no reason why you should ruin your health, and take every spare moment to make one, too. Be your own mistress and whatever you do be the guardian of your own health, for it's something wofully easy to de- stroy but very difficult to renew.

Sowing, of course has to be done, but many a case of headache can be traced to all day in a classroom with a whirling machine, running off yards and yards of tucks, hems, ruffles, etc. Go out into the open air once in a while, throw your head back, straighten your shoulders and draw in good, long, deep, fresh breaths. It will more than pay you for the time and trouble of going.—[Turf, Farm and Home.

Forests Should be Protected.

Before the forests of Lebanon were destroyed Palestine supported in afflu- ence ten million people. The moun- tains have long been denuded. Forbid- ding slopes, barren and ugly, rear their weird forms sharply above dismal and desolate valleys. Scarcely four hundred thousand people remain in all the region and most of these are in wretched hope- less poverty.

Syria, once maintaining a multitude of prosperous towns and cities—Antioch having a population of half a million—is at present the scene of irreparable ruin. The destruction of Syria's forests began 2500 B. C., followed by the disappear- ance of her soil and the decay of her in- dustries would alone have produced this effect. Babylon, once capital of the world, is a heap. Nineveh and Carthage, once the seats of mighty civilizations, and abundantly equipped by generous Nature for permanent life, are desolate wastes. Man destroyed the forests, and lands which once flowed with milk and honey were transformed into deserts.

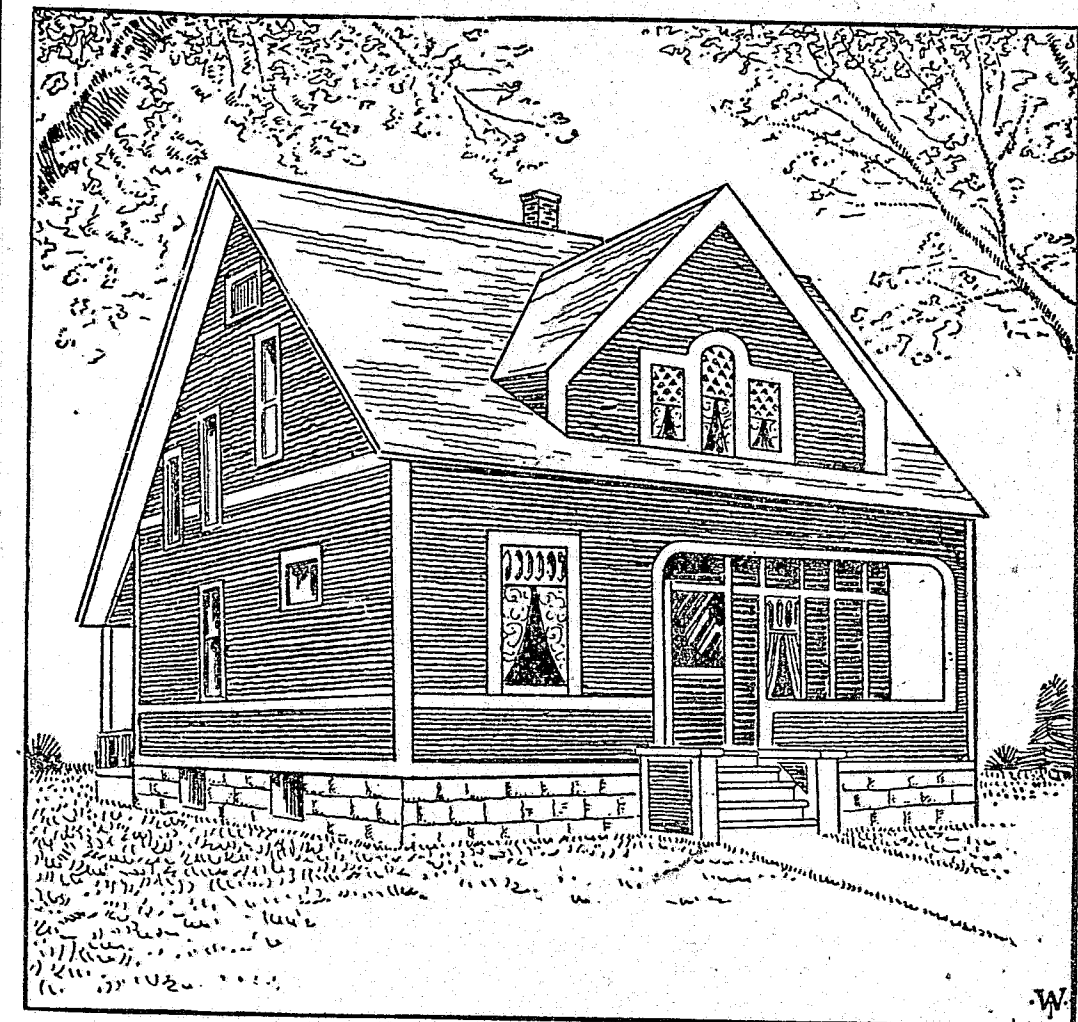

The Grand Trunk has recently made a new schedule of fares on this division which is a considerable reduction on the old rates.

The "unwritten law" is no law at all—is simply anarchy. If the written law is not sufficient, for goodness' sake let our legislatures write some more.

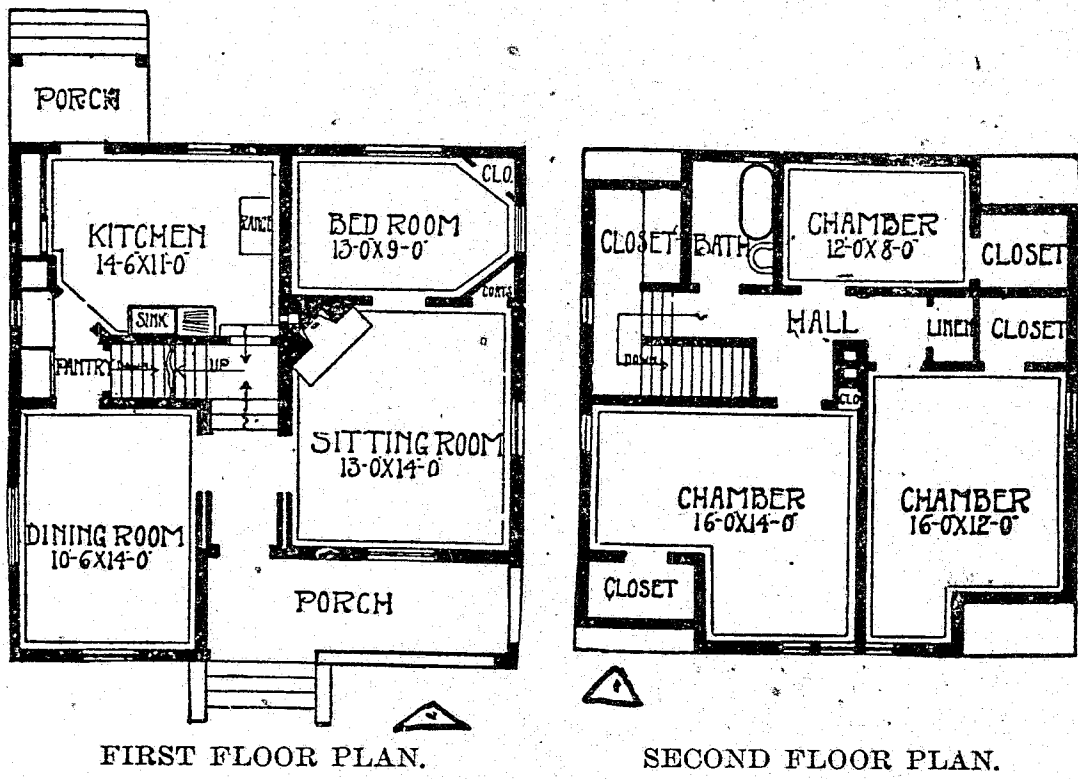

Pretty Frame Cottage.

Attractive and Restful Exterior and a Well Ar- ranged Interior—Estimated Cost, $1,200.

Copyright, 1906, by Glenn L. Saxton, Minneapolis, Minn.

PERSPECTIVE VIEW.

This attractive frame cottage, with restful exterior, has a large screened porch leading into a hall, from which a pretty open stairway leads to the second floor. On one side of the hall is a dining room, on the other a sitting room, with sliding doors opening into each. In the rear of the sitting room is a good sized bedroom. A pantry connects the dining room and kitchen. The second floor contains three good sized bedrooms, a bathroom and large closets. The estimated cost is $1,200.

See Here, Boys.

An engine never gets to Boston if it is headed for Chicago—does it, boys? If it wants to go somewhere it must head that way—mustn't it? Well, I want to know which way every one of you boys is headed. You are going somewhere—everybody is going somewhere. General Grant was headed for the army when he was young, Colum- bus was headed for America when he was a boy studying geography. He looked ahead and set his eyes on where he wanted to go, and he just went there even though people laughed at him and called him crazy.

Every boy out to be headed some- where. He ought to be going there with all the steam turned on and all the wheels moving. I don't mean that he ought to know what trade or business he is going to take up. Maybe he's too young to do that, though it won't hurt him to think about it and see what he likes best.

But what I mean is, that you ought to know what kind of a man you're going to be. Do you want to be a strong? Do you want to know a whole lot? Do you want to have people respect you? Do you want to make the world a better place to live in? Do you want to have nice things, a good job, and be healthy?

Or do you want people to call you a "duffer" and "loafer" and have only street "bums" for friends? Do you want to have weak muscles and be nerve- less, have a terrible temper, and be sick often?

Can a boy ever get anywhere by stand- ing still and telling some one else how he ought to go and what he ought to do? Quick now, decide! A fellow must be going in one of these directions, even though he doesn't know it. Which way are you going? Are you going the right way?—[Exchange.

Near the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher Electric Housecleaning.

Almost every city now boasts of one or more professional house cleaners. A telephone call and the man who makes a business of electrical hygiene house cleaning will assume all the responsibility, hard work and profanity of the bi-annual reign of terror in the house.

The old method of stirring up the dust and allowing it to settle is now obsolete. The new house cleaning ap- paratus sucks up the dust and germs through tubes from floors, upholstery, carpets, rugs and any other place where it accumulates, and collects it in a re- ceptacle. In addition to its hygienic perfection, this scheme has the advan- tage of ease and cheapness. The ex- haust collector is driven by a small elec- tric motor.

A large number of theatres, office buildings, churches and private resi- dences are being equipped with individual house cleaning systems. The ex- haust and dust collector are conveni- ently located in the basement and connect- ed by piping with the various rooms where suitable flexible connections can be made.

Not only can the house be cleaned by electricity but it can be kept clean by electricity. Just as the electric light has banished the ill-smelling kerosene oil lamp, so will electricity take the place of the dirty cook stove. Then the cooking will be done by electricity and the laundry work will be accomplished by the same agent. Small motors will be used to drive the floor polishers and carpet sweepers, the sewing machines, fans, ventilators and the dumb waiters. The houses will be heated by electricity instead of the bothersome dusty furnace, and the home will be cleaner, healthier and more comfortable.

Her Idea.

During one of the written tests in Grammar in one of our schools, a little girl gave the following forms of the verb "to wear": "Wears, wears, wearing, wore, wornout."

How to Have a Clean Kitchen.

If tiles are out of the question for a kitchen, it remains to get the next best thing. Oil paint is the only available wall covering for a kitchen and should be finished with a coat of enamel, says the Boston Traveler. The kitchen walls will require washing quite as much and almost as frequent- ly as the floor. White tiles make the finest possible covering, not only be- cause they show dirt, but because they can be easily cleaned. This require- ment must be met with any other sub- stitute, and this, to a considerable ex- tent, is given in a very good way by oil paint finished with enamel. Some kitchen designers have recommended several successive coats of oil mixed with varnish, a method that is said to give excellent results and doubtless does so. It gives the walls a somewhat dark tone, while with paint a lighter shade may be used. Whatever color is selected it should not be chosen be- cause it conceals dirt. No room ac- cumulates dust and dirt as rapidly as the kitchen, partly because in the sum- mer the windows are generally open all day, admitting clouds of outside dust; partly because of the unavoidable dust from the range and partly be- cause more or less dirt is produced in cooking operations. The housekeeper who imagines her kitchen clean because she sees no dirt on her walls is a most ad- deluded person. If the walls are so dark as to show no dirt, one may be assured the dirt is there, and it is likely to remain there until it becomes so of- fensive that a complete renovation of the room is necessary.

Better Cooking

How often does the very dish upon which you bestow the greatest pains fall just a little short of what it might be? No lack of ability on your part—not necessarily ill-luck; possibly it's because you haven't learned the magic benefits of

DURYEAS' Corn Starch

In improving the daintiness, appearance and whole- someness of many dishes. A bit of it in bread, for example, makes the crust deliciously tender; it works wonders in giving jellies a pleasing firmness for moulding—and so on.

POMPEIAN MASSAGE CREAM

is today indispensable on the dressing table of gentleman or gentlewoman. Not only does it remove wrinkles and blackheads, takes out stiffness of the facial muscles, animates the tissues, and makes the flesh firm and soft. Men use Pompeian Cream after shaving—it relaxes the muscles and takes away shaving soreness. Most women recognize the value of this preparation in maintaining a clear and healthy skin.

It will make these hot days seem cool to read the "Everyday Life of a Soldier" in the South, written by Henry H. Maxim of South Paris.

HARRISON.

The Handy Telephone.

Irving Woodman, manager of the new Camp Woodman in the south part of the town, is building a telephone line, which he intends to connect with the main line in South Harrison. This line would have been built in the spring by the Bolster's Mills Co. if it had not been for the fact that it was expected that the Maine Telephone Company was soon to assume control of the line, which it did on July 1st.

As the new company is not ready to begin operations on new lines just yet, Manager Woodman has determined to hasten matters as much as possible, and rely on chance to get connection with the main line. It is reported that four parties are interested in the new line and that that number of telephones are eventually to be put on it.

The farmers made a small start at haying, last week, and now will be a general mow along the line this week if the weather is favorable. Haying is unusually late, but the indications are crop will be full up to the average.

M. T. Morrow, having sold his home farm to Jesse Holden of Casco, will soon move to the Joseph Chapman farm. He is having a new stable built there to take the place of the barn which was burnt by lightning some two or three years ago.

The Public Library, which was destroyed by fire on May 14, has secured temporary quarters in an unoccupied room in Henry Haskell's house and will be opened to the public the same as it was last season. None of the books were lost in the fire.

The schools in town are now having their summer vacation but, in the fact that four of them were suspended in the spring because of scarlet fever, these will be commenced early in August in order that the lost time may be made up. All of the schools will be under the charge of the teachers of the spring, except the South Harrison, where there is a vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Ruth M. Buck.

J. H. Randall's new buildings on the Joseph Pitts place in South Harrison, are progressing rather slowly on account of the scarcity of labor, and the difficulty of getting lumber sawed as fast as it is needed. The barn frame is mostly up and part of the boarding is already done. It will probably be all closed in by the end of the present week, and the change that may be made into it. This building is to be 50x100, with a first class stone basement. There is also to be a nice stable about 40x60, and a good-sized two-story dwelling house built on the most approved plan. On the opposite side of the road, and a short distance to the north, is to be built a small set of farm buildings for the farm help.

Work on the new buildings in the burnt district at the village is progressing in a satisfactory manner. Jackson's drug store and Ricker's grocery store will probably both be ready to occupy by Aug. 1. A crew of men is working on Whitney's new saw mill, and the foundation of the large Odd Fellows block is nearly done.

This latter job has been under the supervision of O. V. Edwards, and is a very neat looking piece of work. It is expected that work on the frame will be commenced shortly.

Holden's lumber saw at present is as soon as haying is out of the way there will be likely to be a much better supply.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.
Legend of the Lake.
There is a picturesque legend connected with the name of the lake, which is farther east than the Eastern shore of the lake. Before the coming of the white man an encampment of Indians, from whom Lake Penessewasse took its name, was located on the western shore on land now owned by J.
B. Witt, where in those days there was a large cornfield.

Another encampment was near the mouth of the outlet of the lake, with its junction with the Little Androscoggin, where has been found the remains of the old Indian burying ground, and from time to time, bones and other relics of the Indians have been taken from this spot.

It was the custom of this tribe of Indians to hold their pow-wows and war dances in what is now called Gibson's grove, a fine sandy level tract of land, where all their great ceremonies were held. Just at the going down of the sun the Indians held their councils and war dances, and as this tribe was one of the powerful ones of the region, their war councils were many.

On the Eastern shore of the lake near the place where Sunset cottage now is, a very tall pine grew and even now, the roots of the pine can be seen at very low water, indicating that a giant monarch of the forest once actually grew on this spot. The story goes that the Indians as they were gathered on the Western shore of the lake watched the sunlight as it crept up the pine tree, and when the last beam flickered and went out of the signal from the top, that was the signal for the war dance to begin; hence the name of Sunset cottage, which was chosen as the most appropriate to the land of the pine.

Nathaniel T. Witt of Bethel, who is a well known authority on Indian history, gives the meaning of Penessewasse as the Indian term for it, "Land sloping down toward the beautiful shining water," and when one views the lake in all the beauty of late sunset lights, the Indian meaning of the name seems peculiarly harmonious and fitting.—

Hurrah for the pond lily season!
Joy Farnum went to Brockton, Mass., to attend his sister's, Lila Hollis' funeral Thursday, July 11.

Pearl Faulkner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Faulkner of Norway formerly of Auburn, was the guest of her cousin, Marion Wise of Pleasant street, Auburn.

Mrs. Charles Hill of Bridgton, accompanied by her grand-daughter, Irma, daughter of Elwood Hill of Old Town, has been visiting friends and relatives in Norway and vicinity.

Freeland Howe went fishing in Summer, last week in the brooks where he caught trout when a boy. While there were not so many trout as there used to be, still he got a "good mess." They were small but he was sure they had a better flavor than other trout.

Hon. C. T. Witt of East Boston, Mass., has just returned from a visit to his mother, Mrs. Thomas Witt. His son Herbert remained to spend the summer with his uncle, E. E. Witt. Mrs. Elizabeth (Witt) Foster of Leominster, Mass., is spending some weeks in Norway, cating for her mother, Mrs. Thomas Witt, who has not fully recovered from her late illness.

Mark P. Smith and wife of Vinalhaven are visiting their parents, H. D. Smith and wife. Mark has been with the firm of L. C. Chase & Co. of Boston some ten years and for some years past he has had charge of the net factory at Vinalhaven where horse nets are made. They will visit Boston before their return home.
Mark says he has built him a camp or cottage this summer near his home on the Island.

Dr. Clifford L. Pike of Saco, who for a number of years practised medicine in Norway, announces that he is to dispose of his property in Saco and move to the west sometime in September or later in the fall. He has placed his property in the hands of a real estate dealer to sell, and as soon as he can close up his affairs he will move. Just what part of the west he will settle in he does not know decided, but he looked over several places when he was in the west a year ago, in one of which he will locate.

The Tribunal of Nations.

The Most Notable Artistic Pageant Features.
From the imperial days of ancient Rome to those of costly and curious Rome is a far cry, and yet, in their "Tribunal of Nations," the Frank A. Robinson Co. All New Great Feature Show seems to have covered the intervening centuries after a fashion calculated to most brilliantly and impressively appeal to the public eye. The feature named comprises an heroic historical pageant in which the most famous epochs are designated by representatives of their greatest rulers and their courts and martial staffs, disposed in accurately and royally robed tableaux on gorgeous floats, drawn by splendidly caparisoned blue-ribbon thoroughbreds. Napoleon, the victor in a hundred battles, as he appeared on the memorable field of Austerlitz; Caesar, the immortal Roman conqueror and historian; Frederick the Great, the beloved young Queen of Prussia; the present German Emperor, and whose statue, presented by Emperor William to America, was recently unvelled on the esplanade of the newly finished war college at Washington; Wilhelmina, the beloved young Queen of Netherlands; the Kings of Italy, Spain and Sweden; the Emperor of Austria and of others. Here is an eye feast of impressive individuality and a stimulant to historical inquiry of great benefit to the young. This and the many other feature novelties and arena attractions of the exhibition named will be with us on Tuesday, July 23 on the Fair Grounds.

Mrs. Emily Merrill and daughter are visiting Mrs. Ella Knightly.
A regular session of Oxford Castle, No. 2, K. G. E., will be held in Golden Eagle Hall, Thursday, July 18, at 8 p. m.
The officers for the new term will be installed by D. G. O. C. H. Ridout of Auburn, who will be assisted by Grand Vice Chief, Albert C. Martin. Refreshments will be served after the session.

Bernice Watson of Chelsea, who sometimes visits in Norway, is with Lida Thompson, assistant in the State Bureau of Entomology at Augusta, the two most capable and well educated young lady entomologists in the State. During Miss Thompson's absence from her work Miss Watson has been taking her place.

M. F. Holman of Otisfield Grove raises strawberries, raspberries and blackberries. He is now harvesting his crop of strawberries and has several varieties, all good but some better than others.
We sampled a box of choice Ridgway and Haveland berries. They were all right. He will have about 500 quarts which find a ready market in this and Oxford villages. The raspberries and blackberries are looking well and he expects to get a good crop.

Pennesseewasse Lodge, K. of P. has appointed a committee consisting of Past Grand Chancellor, M. L. Kimball, and Past Chancellor, Thomas P. Richardson, and O. M. Cummings, to consider the matter of erecting a Pythian Hall in Norway. It is rumored that the committee are in correspondence with Miss L. H. Whitcomb in relation to purchasing the lot where the residence of the late Wm. H. Whitcomb stood before the great fire, and they also have in view the possibility of securing another Main street lot further up town.

NORTHWEST NORWAY.
Richard Walker has over 100 chickens.
Maurice Brown is at home from Bates, spending his vacation.

Everett Kimball has been to Mechanic Falls, visiting relatives.

Mrs. James Jordan is making a month's visit in Summer.

Mrs. Kate Williams has been to Rum-ford visiting friends for a few days.

Mrs. L. E. and Mrs. B. C. McIntire have been to Turner to visit friends.

Frank Williams from South Paris and Frank Witham from Oxford visited at Richard Walker's.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and their two children from Windham have been visiting at Simon Richardson's, Ben Richardson and George Grover's.

Mary A. Holt from Somerville, Mass., is spending the remainder of her vacation with her mother, Mrs. E. J. Holt.
She has been visiting her cousin, Mrs.
Ellen Northend in Massachusetts.

HARBOR.
Annie Pray has been visiting friends in Conway.

The Presiding Elder C. F. Parsons was here the 12th.

Marion Barker and brother Walter were at W. E. Benson's.

Everett and Maud Heald went to Portland to the circus, the 12th.

Ida Benson and nephew, Rupert Johnson, of Haverhill, Mass., have come to visit relatives.

A pack of gypsies was through here and wanted to hire rent but did not find any they could hire.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Benson and sister spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs.
Samuel Kimball at their cottage, Lake Kezar.

Will Howe and family spent several days, including the glorious Fourth, at Conway. Quite a number of our people spent the day at Cold River. A. W.
Waterhouse and wife celebrated at Lovell Center.

The League under the management of Mrs. Leon Charles entertained the circle the 10th. The young people served the supper after which the following program was carried out:

Mrs. Charles, violin; Mr. Bemis, cornet; Miss. Charles, piano; Mrs. Bemis, harp; Recitation, Dora Howe;
Reading, Mrs. Charles; May Hall Music.

Mrs. Henry Ross of Sebago died July 7th, Sunday morning. Sweeter than music was her parting words as she called each one to her bedside bidding them good bye.

The paper for postage stamps that was made at Mechanic Falls last year by the Poland Paper Co., is to be made this year in Philadelphia. The Poland Co. was underbid.

Items in regard to absent-minded men are so common that we deem it worthy of note to call attention to an incident reported in the local columns of the Watson News, H. where a good lady of that town in her hurry to start for church Sunday morning, took from the closet what she supposed was her raincoat, threw it over her arm, and on arriving at church threw it over the back of the pew in front of her, when she discovered that she had picked up her husband's trousers instead of the raincoat.

BUCKFIELD.

A. W. Pottle was in Waterville, Monday, on business.

C. Thence went to Portland and Old Orchard, Thursday.

Miss Pettengill of Rumford Falls, was the guest of Mrs. I. W. Shaw one day this week.

Raymond Jordan has sold out and closed his candy and fruit store in the Thomas block.

R. Crockett and John Gerish are painting the old clock on the hill now used as the town house.

Charles Gouchier is having some improvements made to his house. Virgil Cole and Daniel Murch are doing the work.

Mrs. C. C. Withington, Miss A. W.
Pottle and Martha Warren of Westbrook, took a carriage drive to Lewiston and back one day.

The West Paris, I. O. O. F., visited by invitation the Buckfield Lodge, Saturday, and worked the second degree. A fine banquet was served.

Sally and Martha Warren of Westbrook, are the guests of their grandparents, Rev. A. W. Pottle and wife.
They will remain till Aug. 1.

H. G. Ulrich and wife of Baltimore, Md. are the guests of Mrs. Ulrich's parents, T. L. Lunt and wife. Mr.
Ulrich spent most of his vacation at the lakes.

R. B. Tyler has bought out his partner, Charles Holland, and is now running the grocery store, with assistance of his clerk, Peter H. Allen. Mr. Tyler is giving excellent satisfaction to his customers and deserves a liberal patronage.

The family friends of Mrs. Alfred Shaw celebrated her eightieth birthday, July 4th. A company of thirteen were present, among whom was Mrs. H. A.
Libby of Brunswick, a sister. Her daughter, Josie Shaw is assistant at the post office.

Thursday, the Buckfield Literary club enjoyed a box social and lawn party on Virgil Cole's grounds. A large number were present, and a good time was reported. On the Tuesday preceding this club held its annual meeting and elected the following officers:

Pres.—Mrs. Virgil Irish.
1st. Pres.—Mrs. Amore Irish.
2d. Pres.—Mrs. Emma Cole.
Sec.—Mrs. C. M. Tilton.
3d. Sec.—Mrs. A. S. Sillings.
Exec. Com.—Mrs. Sarah Morrill, Mrs. Clara Withington and Mrs. Ada Shaw.

PORTERFIELD.
Benj. F. Norton has bought a horse of Will Warren, of Brownfield.

John C. Norton, Frank H. Clemons, and Chas. McDonald have gone to Gorham, having.

Gardner Norton, who is working at Pannmouth, N. H., has visited his parents and friends here.

A few from this place attended the circus at Portland, Friday, July 12. A rainy time was reported.

Leon Curtis and Roland Lewis of Everett, Mass., are boarding at the uncles, Charles F. Lewis, of this place.

Alfonso Meserve and wife, who have been visiting at John S. Row, are returning to their home in Massachusetts, Monday, July 8.

The Law Court.
It is hard for those who have been for long time in the habit of attending the session of the law court to understand the great change in the membership of the Supreme Court of Maine.

It is almost impossible to believe that the accomplished and genial Chief Justice Wiswell is to retire no more. "It has seemed to me all day," said one man, "that he would walk in and quietly take his place on the bench again."

Then Judge Powers is greatly mistaken. He will be the chief justice in his person's appearance and will be like him in the intense way he listened to arguments.

Chief Justice Emery makes an admirable chief, and his patience seems to be unlimited. "If your own course, do as you please," he has said many times since the term has opened. The bar likes him and he is keeping the business of the court moving.

Of course much public interest is felt in Judge Cornish and Judge King. They are at the extreme ends of the bench and quite frequently face each other.

Measure Your Perch.
It is now open time on perch, the law having gone off, July 1st. The new law passed at the last session of the Legislature is now in effect, which provides that perch shall not be retained in the possession of a fisherman under six inches in length. The local game wardens are keeping a sharp lookout for fish of illegal length.

It is an adage of law that ignorance of law excuses no one, and the fine is $10 for each fish under the required length which is found in the possession of a fisherman. A large number of persons are taking advantage of the opportunity for perch fishing, however, and there is no doubting that good sport may be enjoyed despite the fact that occasionally one is forced to return the small fish to the water. As the local fisherman expressed it, "Who wants short fish, anyway."

A Byword and a Reproach.
Perhaps it is not a source of pride that Oxford county had 105 criminal cases last year, but it is more of a source of pride for the Oxford county officers and the men who voted for the Oxford county officers, than for counties of large size and population whose breaking of the laws of Maine are allowed all their laxity has become a byword and a reproach to the State's good name.

Moslem etiquette, "to always be in good humor and talk pleasant things," would not be a bad thing for everybody.

Ninety Years Old.

Extracts from a letter of Mrs. S. E.
Powers of Hanover, Maine—to her daughters residing in Waterville, Wis-con. My dear Children:—I have been looking over my birthday treasures, so many of them—and from everybody. How surprised I was when I came in this room this morning after breakfast—to see all the beautiful flowers—my room was sweet with their perfume, and so much mail on my table from far and near. Children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and friends.

A little thought when I was at your age I should live to see my ninetieth birthday—few comparatively have lived to see the years and changes that I have seen. I can look back and see how we had to spin and weave our own clothing, cook over a fire-place—when we wanted a broom go into the woods for it (hemlock). When we had butter to sell go to Portland, 60 miles, to market—now how it has changed. And the conveniences, the automobiles (I don't like them) one day last summer 63 went by here to the lakes, they said they came from New York, the steam and electric cars, the telegraphs and telephones and grapho-phones are truly wonderful. I am glad that folks don't have to do now as they used to, but perhaps they work just as hard.

I had a birthday letter from all my children, and then the "Shower" of handkerchiefs, etc. Miss Dingley, the teacher, said she "wished she was 90." It is sweet to the old and helpless to be so kindly remembered—but the love that prompts the kind act is the sweetest of all. The flowers were so sweet, the 90 beautiful carnations and roses. I cannot half thank you for it all, but you did too much.

GILEAD.
Mrs. Mary Wright has returned to Norway.

We are sorry to hear that Solon Coffin is seriously ill.

Mrs. Leland Philbrook and family, have been the guests of J. M. Newell's family.

Mrs. Alice Farwell of Bethel has been spending a few days of the vacation with her brother, A. H. Lary and his family, at the home of Mrs. D. C. Lary.

WILSON'S MILLS.
G. P. Wilson of Boston, a former resident is here spending his vacation among the scenes of his youth.

The A. L. D. Co. began sluicing logs from the upper Magalloway through Aziscoos Dam, last week. They go only as far as Errol, this season.

A lawn party at the Diamond Farm with ice cream, strawberries and cream and lemonade for sale was the only entertainment for the 4th here. This was well patronized, the proceeds to go toward finishing the hall of Aziscoos Frango.
